

Preparing For Literacy – A 3 Day EYFS Programme

Improving communication, language and literacy in the Early Years 2018-19

This programme will unpick the seven practical evidence based recommendations within the EEF Preparing for Literacy Guidance Report, in order to provide every child, including those from disadvantaged backgrounds, with a high quality and well-rounded foundation in early literacy, language and communication.

Participants will explore evidence based approaches that schools can use to make a significant difference to children's learning. In addition, school case studies and supporting tools and resources will be shared giving practical advice and support

This programme is suitable for literacy leaders, headteachers and other staff with leadership responsibility in the early years.

The courses will be led by Eileen Allpress and Sarah Loxley from Ipswich Research School.
